FEDERAL AND STATE TAX WITHHOLDING

Withholding only applies to the taxable portion, i.e. income, of the payments you receive.

Federal withholding is generally at a 10% rate, but you may elect not to withhold any taxes.

We will assume that the entire withdrawal from an IRA or other eligible retirement plan is taxable, except for non-taxable qualified distributions from a Roth IRA. Federal withholding for distributions from qualified plans, including 401(k)s, is at a 20% rate; this withholding is mandatory unless the distribution is rolled over to an IRA or other eligible retirement plan. Federal withholding of distributions from non-qualified plans and personal plans, including IRAs, is at the default rate of 10% and is not mandatory.

Even if you elect not to have federal and/or state income tax withheld, you are still liable for payment of federal income tax and, if applicable, state income tax on the taxable portion of the distribution. Additionally, in some states, even if you elect not to withhold state income tax, we may withhold state income tax if required by law. You may also be subject to tax penalties under the Estimated Tax Payment Rules if any payments of estimated tax and withholding are insufficient (IRS Publication 505 explains federal estimated tax requirements and describes penalties in detail).

Specific state income tax withholding policies are noted below. For additional information, contact your state's taxation department and/or your tax advisor.

- No Withholding: We cannot withhold state income tax for residents of Alabama, Alaska, Arizona (for lump sum cash payments), Colorado, Delaware, the District of Columbia (for distributions other than lump sum distributions from retirement plans or accounts), Florida, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Wisconsin, Washington or Wyoming.
- Required Withholding if Federal Tax Withholding Mandatory: For residents of Arkansas, Maryland and North Carolina, with distributions eligible for rollover, or other distributions where federal withholding is mandatory, we must withhold state tax.
- Required Withholding if Federal Tax Withheld: For residents of the District of Columbia (for lump sum distributions from retirement plans or accounts), Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Oklahoma and Nebraska, we must withhold state taxes if federal taxes are withheld.
- Required Withholding if Federal Tax Withheld, but may Elect Out: For residents of Arkansas (for distributions not eligible for rollover), Georgia (for periodic payments), North Carolina (for distributions not eligible for rollover) and Vermont, you must have state income tax withheld if federal income taxes are also withheld, unless you specifically opt out of state income tax withholding. For residents of California, Massachusetts, Oregon and Virginia who opt out of federal income tax withholding, you are opted out of state income tax withholding as well; otherwise, in Massachusetts, Oregon and Virginia, state tax will be withheld. A resident of California who elects to have federal tax withheld can elect out of state withholding as well.
- Voluntary Withholding: For residents of Arizona (for periodic annuity payments), Connecticut, Georgia (for non-periodic payments), Indiana, Maryland (for distributions not eligible for rollover), Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Utah and West Virginia, state income tax withholding is voluntary.
